

CARLSON, CASPERS, VANDENBURGH & LINDQUIST

Carlson, Caspers, Vandenburg & Lindquist ("CCVL") is a preeminent intellectual property litigation firm. It specializes in counseling sophisticated clients, large and small about their most important patent, trademark, copyright, trade secret and high technology cases.

CCVL's lawyers are extraordinarily talented. Its mission is to provide exceptional service and value to their clients by hiring only the very best lawyers. No other intellectual property litigation firm in the Twin Cities can rival the procedural and substantive knowledge of intellectual property, the technical know-how and the trial and appellate experience of its lawyers.

The scope of its trial experience is unequalled. Alan Carlson and R.J. Zayed have more jury trial experience than anyone in the business. Alan has 34 years of experience for both plaintiffs and defendants in every sort of intellectual property case. Alan is also the first patent lawyer in Minnesota to become a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

R.J. is a former Assistant United States Attorney and has more federal jury trials than most attorneys in Minnesota. During his tenure as a federal prosecutor, he tried over 30 cases to a jury. He also has over 10 years experience litigating intellectual property cases across the country.

PROVIDING EXCEPTIONAL SERVICE AND VALUE TO OUR CLIENTS

Derek Vandenburg is the appellate lawyer of choice for intellectual property. He has worked on an enormous variety of litigation matters, including disputes concerning patents, trade secrets, design patents and trademarks. He is a former law clerk at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Phil Caspers has 17 years experience dedicated to litigating patent disputes. He brings an experienced business and legal perspective to each patent case. A veteran of over a hundred patent battles, Phil has developed strategies for some of the most complex patent disputes the firm's clients have faced.

Tim Lindquist's practice encompasses all phases of patent litigation, including proceedings in Federal District Court and the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. He also handles disputes in informal forums such as mediation and arbitration. Like Mr. Vandenburg, he is a former Federal Circuit law clerk.

The scope of CCVL's technical know-how and experience is also unrivaled. Alan has an undergraduate degree in mechanical engineering, Phil and Derek have undergraduate degrees in physics and Tim and R.J. have undergraduate degrees in electrical engineering.

If you are a patent-savvy company, experience why clients entrust Carlson Caspers with their most coveted technology. Whether it is to advise you on how to avoid litigation or to successfully litigate your case, you cannot be in better company.
